[EJ: This brief article is one of the earliest anthropological works concerning the tribal groups of Formosa. The article itself is Part I of a two part series; Part II has been processed for this file as source 30: Torii. The textual material in this first article presents a brief description of the geographical location of the various tribal groups. Following the textual material, is a series of sixty-six excellent photographic plates. Due to the fact that the article is brief and contains only very general information, and because the photographic plates cannot be reproduced due to technical difficulties, this source has not been processed for the Formosan file.]
